ABSTRACT

The problem in this study is that currently there are still many people who lack or distrust, view dirty or even hypocrisy towards politics so that people become indifferent to the world of politics. Political education in adolescents is very important to increase their political awareness, which will increase interest in political participation in society. The purpose of this study is to explore whether there is a relationship between students' political understanding and students' interest in political participation in the 2024 Presidential election at MAN 1 Banjarmasin. This research is quantitative in nature and the population used in this study is class XII students of MAN 1 Banjarmasin in the 2023/2024 academic year. From this population, a sample of 158 people was determined. Questionnaires distributed to students, interviews and documentation are the techniques used in data collection. According to the results of the study, it shows that there is a relationship between political understanding and students' interest in political participation in the 2024 Presidential election at MAN 1 Banjarmasin, which can be seen in the Mann Whitney test results, namely Asymp Sig (2-tailed), $0.000 < 0.05$. Seeing from the results that have been obtained, it can be concluded that the hypothesis is accepted, which means that there is a relationship between political understanding and students' interest in political participation in the Presidential election at MAN 1 Banjarmasin. Based on the results of the study, suggestions from researchers are formed, namely for education can provide students with motivation in learning in order to increase students' interest and interest in studying politics such as by facilitating student activities for discussion and demonstrating the implementation of elections so that learning becomes interesting, innovative, creative and effective

Abstract

The main issue in this research is the decline of nationalism values among youth due to the rapid globalization that has negative impacts on teenagers. This study aims to analyze the role of the IPNU IPPNU organization in strengthening nationalism values among youth in the Sungai Tabuk District of Banjar Regency, South Kalimantan. The approach used is descriptive qualitative with data collection through observation, interviews, and documentation. Data analysis techniques are carried out through stages of data selection, data presentation, and drawing conclusions. The results show that the IPNU IPPNU organization acts as an educational and social agent that is active through programs such as MAKESTA, religious activities, and digital campaigns. Activities carried out by the IPNU IPPNU organization increase awareness of the importance of cooperation, tolerance, and involvement in community development. This activity shapes the values of nationalism among young people through awareness of responsibility and cooperation in organizational activities conducted by the management of the IPNU IPPNU organization. Strengthening the values of nationalism becomes effective because the contextual approach, which touches the daily lives of adolescents directly, makes the values of nationalism easier to accept and practice in real life. These findings indicate that youth organizations can play a strategic role in fostering nationalism in the younger generation. The role of the management of the IPNU IPPNU organization is strategic in strengthening the values of nationalism manifested through discussion and educational approaches tailored to the characteristics of today's youth. Participation in this organizational activity helps young people understand the importance of responsibility and cooperation as a manifestation of the values of nationalism through the organization's work programs.
